

AMUNDSEN WILL EXPLORE ARCTIC

South Pole Discoverer to Make Trip in 1914.

TO USE WIRELESS OUTFIT.

Will Not Go to the Pole, Says Famous Voyager, but Will Confine Efforts to Scientific Research—The Fram to Be Used Again.

New York.—Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, whom the United States formally recognized as the discoverer of the south pole at a dinner given in his honor by the National Geographic society at Washington, has made public the tentative plans of his contemplated cruise in arctic waters in 1914.

"I will leave San Francisco in June, 1914," Captain Amundsen declared, "and will proceed to Alaska and on up through the Bering sea. The Fram, the vessel in which I sailed into the antarctic before making the last dash to the pole, is now at Buenos Aires undergoing repairs and a thorough overhauling. She will proceed to San Francisco, where I will board her.

"It is my intention to endeavor to sail up the Alaskan coast into the Arctic ocean and through the Northwest passage to Greenland, the reverse of my previous trip in the Gjoa."

Captain Amundsen said he had no idea what he might find on the voyage. There might be an extensive archipelago in his path, he said, and then there might not be.

"I really have no idea what I will encounter," he said. "That is why I am going to make the trip."

The next six months, he added, he would spend in an extensive lecture tour of the United States and Canada. In July he intends to return to his home in Norway, where he will stay until the time for his cruise in the Arctic ocean arrives.

"I will have from twelve to fourteen men with me," the explorer said. "They will be practically the same men who accompanied me to the south pole. At present they are in Norway, studying and preparing themselves for the next voyage."

Asked if he expected to run across any of the blond Eskimos reported by Stefansson, Captain Amundsen smiled and said it was not likely.

"I have never seen any in my trips in the Arctic," he said. "But I would hardly care to express an opinion as to their existence. Mr. Stefansson I know to be a very reliable man, and I place great credit in his statements. The purposes of my voyage are purely scientific. Little is known of the vast region north of the continent, and any data we may obtain will be extremely valuable."

"It is likely that I will have a wireless apparatus on the Fram on this trip, although that is still an open question. It would doubtless assist greatly in making observations, for through the aid of stations which it is proposed be established in northern Alaska, Spitzbergen and points in Greenland, comparisons of the climatic conditions that could thus be made would be extremely useful."

"I do not intend to go to the north pole. What would be the interest? It has been discovered, man has been there and there would be no incentive. We shall confine ourselves to purely scientific studies of the currents and lands with which we may come in contact."

Since his last visit to this country, made prior to his successful trip to the south pole, Captain Amundsen has removed his mustache and beard.

"It is necessary to be smooth shaven in the cold regions," he said. "Contrary to the general belief that a beard warms the face, it is a great hindrance. Icicles form and a beard becomes a source of great pain and annoyance."

"The mean annual temperature at the south pole," he added, "is 15 degrees below zero, F. The warmest it ever gets there is 30 degrees, and I have known the mercury to descend to 75 degrees below zero. One never has a chance to stand around and freeze, however, for there is always a vast amount of work to be done. At times when we were snowbound we worked at perfecting our apparatus, and time never dragged."

INDIANS' ELECTRIC PLANT.

Tribe Will Also Have Sewers, Waterworks and Fire Protection.

Victoria, B. C.—The Indians of the Queen Charlotte Islands have already a national reputation for enterprise, but it was left to the Skidegates, whose village lies at the southern end of Vancouver Island, to back the most ambitious undertaking ever projected by a coast Indian nation.

This year they propose installing an electric system for lighting their village and furnishing power for a variety of industrial enterprises to be carried forward on co-operative principles. They will also put in a modern sewer system, waterworks and complete fire protection equipment.

The Skidegates are just a little ahead of the whites of British Columbia in the encouragement of the love of art, offering a tribal prize annually for the best specimen of original composition. Their band enjoys the reputation of being the best Indian band in America. Its honorary president is H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada.

NO. 13 IN THE ARCHBALD CASE

The Superstitious May Find Shivers in This Record.

Washington.—Ex-Judge Robert W. Archbald, formerly of the United States commerce court, may not be superstitious, but he has reason to dread the cabalistic number thirteen. It was on Feb. 13 nearly a year ago that the formal complaint was made to President Taft by Commissioner Meyer of the interstate commerce commission against the respondent. On July 13 a message was received in the senate from the house saying that the house had impeached Judge Archbald. There were thirteen articles of impeachment in all, and the vote was taken on the thirteenth hour of the thirteenth day of the month in the year 1913.

The respondent was found guilty on the thirteenth general article, and the sum of the numbers of the other separate articles on which he was convicted, taken in their numerical order, totals thirteen.

ONE TOE, $1,262.50.

That's Young Woman's Valuation. $1,000 For an Eye.

Provo, Utah.—What is the value of a young woman's toe? This question will be answered in the Fourth district court, where suit was filed by Miss Irene Berry of Springville against Dr. F. A. Graham, a dentist and chiropodist. For the loss of two toes Miss Berry asks $2,525. She says that she applied to the dentist for relief from two corns. He removed the corns, but it later became necessary to remove the toes.

Philadelphia.—Mrs. Elizabeth Galbraith was awarded a verdict of $2,000 by a jury because a brewery truck had knocked her down, fractured her skull and caused her to become permanently cross eyed.

BRICKS THAT WILL LAST THROUGH AGES

Lost Art of Roman Brickmakers Said to Be Discovered.

Rome.—Giuseppe Giovannetti, a young Roman, who had already discovered a pigment for frescoes whose resisting power surpasses that of the ancients, has now discovered the lost art of brickmaking as practiced by the Romans 2,000 years ago. This is the opinion of experts who have tested bricks made by the Giovannetti system, which resists fire, damp, excessive cold and every other destructive element and apparently would last unimpaired for endless ages.

The secret has been given to the Italian government. Experiments being made with the new bricks tend rather to confirm than shake the most exaggerated reports of their durability. Building experts declare that a new era has dawned in the construction of large buildings. Contracts being made for all the new dwellings in Tripoli contain a clause stipulating that these bricks must be used.

MUST PROPOSE IN WRITING.

New Law Suggested to Prevent Breach of Promise Suits.

Boston.—Representative Winfield F. Prime of Winchester is author of a bill which is now before the Massachusetts legislature which, whether it becomes law or not, will attract wide attention.

Mr. Prime's bill provides that all proposals of marriage shall be made in writing in order to be a basis for a lawsuit. He hopes to attain by the passage of the bill a substantial diminution of the number of breach of promise suits. All possible attempts at blackmail, he thinks, would be effectually blocked by such a law.

NEW CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER.

Colonel Scriven Succeeds General Allen, Who Is to Retire.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Colonel George P. Scriven has been named by President Taft to succeed Brigadier General James Allen as chief signal officer of the army. General Allen retires on Feb. 13.

His successor has been the assistant signal officer for ten years.

VIRGINIA TO GET ASHES OF GEN. LEE

Owner of Cumberland Island Gives Consent to Removal.

PUTS AN END TO LONG FIGHT

Georgia D. A. R. Were Unwilling to Lose Remains of Famous Revolutionary Leader—Father's Grave Approved by Robert E. Lee in 1870.

Brunswick, Ga.—Mrs. Lucy Carnegie has given her consent to the removal of the remains of "Light Horse" Harry Lee, Revolutionary hero and father of General Robert E. Lee, from the burial ground on the Carnegie plantation at Dungeness, on Cumberland Island, to Virginia.

This ends the long fight of the Georgia division of the Daughters of the American Revolution against the removal of the body. General Harry Lee died on Cumberland, and his body was buried there, and there it has remained for more than a century.

A year ago the Virginia legislature named a committee and appropriated $500 to remove the body to the Lee burial ground at Lexington, Va. It was not presumed at that time that there would be any objection to the transfer. The legislature decided to gather the dust of all the Lees at one spot. But the Georgia Daughters opposed the removal from the first.

At their meeting at Marietta last spring the Daughters adopted resolutions against the removal of the remains on the ground that it would be an act of desecration to disturb them at this late date. The movement was headed by Mrs. J. H. Redding of the Waycross chapter, who got up a petition which was signed by hundreds of the Daughters throughout the state.

It was the intention of the state regent to have the matter brought to the attention of the Georgia legislature at its last session, but for some reason it was not done.

The strongest argument made by the Daughters against the removal was a statement made by General Robert E. Lee after a visit to the grave of his father in 1870. He was reported to have said on that occasion that he was satisfied with the resting place of his father and that no prettier or more restful spot could have been chosen for his grave. The Daughters contended that if General Lee was satisfied the Virginia legislature ought to be.

In later years of his life General Harry Lee went to Cuba in search of health. After a time, being only slightly improved and very weak, he determined to return. On his way he stopped to visit his friend and companion in arms, General Nathaniel Greene, the then owner of Dungeness and Cumberland Island. He never got any further. He fell steadily and finally died there. He was given burial on Cumberland in the little cemetery of the Greeses. A small stone slab marks his last resting place.

ENGLAND HAS 16.25 INCH GUN

May Be Mounted on Queen Elizabeth Class of Battleships.

London.—The admiralty has perfected a 16.25 inch gun. This may be mounted on the Queen Elizabeth class of battleships.

The gun, it is stated, has a broad side fire of 17,000 pounds.

RESULT OF 50 YEARS' LABOR.

Old Woman Buys Clock For Village Church In Husband's Memory.

Geneva.—In the church at Bremgarten, in the canton of Argovia, a clock that has cost $4,100 has just been placed, the gift of an old woman who labored for fifty years to save the money to pay for it. The clock has been put in the steeple of the church, and when it was installed all the officials of the village took part in the ceremony.

The old woman who gave the clock is seventy-six years of age. Her husband died when she was twenty-four. She was then the village beauty, but instead of marrying again—her husband had left her penniless—she earned her own living by working as a household servant or in the fields.

She toiled for half a century and obtained the reputation among the villagers of being a miser. The object of her self denial was revealed when she presented the clock as a memorial of her husband to the village, and now, instead of being an object of ridicule, she is the heroine of the place.

ABDUL HAMID'S QUEER PRIZE.

Ex-Sultan Gets $25,000 In Will to Build Peace Temple.

Berlin.—Abdul Hamid, ex-sultan of Turkey, comes into possession of $25,000, given him by a German admirer for the purpose of erecting a temple of peace in Constantinople. Of all men in the world Abdul would probably be the last to lay the cornerstone for such an edifice.

Two years ago at Leipzig a curious old man of the name of Zoellner died, leaving his fortune, $20,000, to the ex-sultan with the above stipulation. He evidently had forgotten that he had a niece in very poor circumstances, who was just able to make her living by her work. She brought suit to break the will, but the supreme court of Leipzig ruled against her. The ex-sultan gets the money then, and one wonders when he will lay the first stone of his temple of universal peace.

PLOWING THE WORLD.

Touring Now Passes—Try This if You Would Go Up to Date.

Red Bluff, Cal.—Plowing their way around the world is the unique way of touring this sphere adopted by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith, formerly of the Imperial valley, who are traveling with an outfit consisting of cook and bunk wagons, two traction engines and gang plows with a capacity of turning over 100 acres of ground in twenty-four hours.

Since beginning their journey they have traveled by easy stages, securing in each agricultural community through which they passed contracts for plowing and then, when these were completed, moving on to another section.

NAVY COATS ET AL. TO BE RE-ENLISTED

Admiral Has Rebuttal For Goat Incident.

Norfolk, Va.—The goats, monkeys, cats, dogs, parrots and other pets aboard Uncle Sam's fighting ships at the Norfolk navy yard, which were banished a few days ago when, report said, Rear Admiral R. M. Doyle was bitten by a goat on the quarterdeck of the battleship New Hampshire, will be restored to the jockies, and there is joy in the fleet again.

Assistant Secretary Winthrop of the navy department took their banishment seriously enough to investigate it and let it be known that the department did not approve their summary removal.

Admiral Doyle indignantly denied that the goat had bitten him and announced that he had ordered the removal of the pets because medical officers thought they might have something to do with cerebrospinal meningitis and measles at the marine barracks.

The admiral further announced that when the danger of infection was passed the mascots would be permitted to return.

DREAM OF DYING KILLS.

Saw Stepdaughter Take Poison, and, Dreaming, Died the Same Way.

Lincoln, Neb.—Mrs. K. E. Cleveland, wife of a Burlington railway official, died here of hemorrhage of the brain brought on by a dream that she had been poisoned.

Mrs. Cleveland's stepdaughter died in convulsions two weeks before, the result of poisoning. On the night following the funeral Mrs. Cleveland dreamed that she had died just as had her stepdaughter. She was seized with cerebral hemorrhage and soon became unconscious.

HEALING POWER OF TEARS.

Danish Scientist Discovers That They Are Microbe Killers.

Copenhagen.—Dr. Lindahl, a leading Danish professor, declares that he has discovered that tears are antiseptic and destroy microbes.

"I observed that crying quickly cleared the nasal ducts," he said, "and experimenting has shown that tears are entirely antiseptic and healing. Applied to any injury they will hasten recovery."

AWFUL SECRET OF MURDERER

Daniel Webster's Vivid Portrayal of the Tortures That Baset the Guilty Soul.

Meantime, the guilty soul cannot keep its own secret. It is false to itself, or rather it feels an irresistible impulse of conscience to be true to itself. It labors under its guilty possession, and knows not what to do with it. The human heart was not made for the residence of such an inhabitant. It finds itself preyed on by a torment, which it dares not acknowledge to God nor man. A culture is devouring it, and it can ask no sympathy or assistance either from heaven or earth. The secret which the murderer possesses soon comes to possess him, and, like the evil spirits of which we read, it overcomes him and leads him whithersoever it will. He feels it beating at his heart, rising to his throat, and demanding disclosure. He thinks the whole world sees it in his face, reads it in his eyes, and almost hears the workings in the very silence of his thoughts. It has become his master. It betrays his discretion, it breaks down his courage, it conquers his prudence. When suspicious from without begin to embarrass him and the net of circumstance to entangle him, the fatal secret struggles with still greater violence to burst forth. It must be confessed, it is confessed. There is no refuge from confession but suicide, and suicide is confession.—Daniel Webster.

GETTING CLOSE TO NATURE

Stretch Yourself Out Beneath an Oak and See if You Feel This Way.

Whether its branches show green against a dark-blue sky—gold where the sunlight touches them—whether its leaves show magenta in the light of the setting sun, or black and silver in the moonlight, there is no tree of them all to compare with the oak. All a summer's day you may lie stretched beneath it, so strong and so friendly, not to you only, but to all the little lives that swarm about its roots. All kinds of busy creatures—ants, spiders, daddy-longlegs—beloved of your childhood go scurrying over you on this errand and that, as unafraid, almost, as if you were dead. A feeling of kinship comes to you: a knowledge that all this life about you is oak and grass and insect, and the good dog lying at your feet, is but a little part of the ageless flux and reflux; soothingly as a cool hand on an aching head there comes to you the realization that soon fears, hates and loves forgotten, your tired body shall rest under the trees all the days and all the nights.—Atlantic Monthly.

WARM TRIBUTE.

It was in a little country town in the west of England, says the Bristol Mirror, and Mr. Goodman, excellent citizen and kind-hearted man, allowed himself, much against his own will, to be chosen mayor for the fourth time. After the event, he met Mr. Jones, one of his warmest admirers, who shook him heartily by the hand.

"I'm right sorry, Mr. Mayor," said the worthy man, "they've putten on you the trouble of officiating for another term, with all your many calls and worries of business; a far worse man would have suited us—but that was just the trouble. We couldn't find him—and it's my opinion as he ain't to be found."

WINE OF KIRK-KILISSEH.

Under its own name Kirk-Kiliseh, now figuring in the war news, conveys nothing to the majority of Englishmen, but incognito, so to speak, it is very well known indeed. For Kirk-Kiliseh is a place of vineyards, producing an excellent wine, which is eagerly purchased by French firms, shipped to Bordeaux and sold as the "best Bordeaux." And so it comes about that many smack lips over "Bordeaux" that is really Kirk-Kiliseh.

ON THE 'PHONE.

Miss Holliday—Weren't you in when George called you on the phone and proposed?

Miss Winn—No; but when I did get in I returned his ring.—New York Globe.

MUTUAL POLITENESS.

"Will it be any trouble for you to find out if Mrs. De Style is at home?"

"Not a bit. It won't take me a minute to run upstairs and ask her."

The Semi-Weekly Bee

Earlington, Kentucky

Mrs. Newell Alford and F. D. Rash were in Madisonville Wednesday.

A. P. King, of Horkineville was in town Wednesday.

Mrs. Elgie Sisk, formerly of this place, and now of Memphis, Tenn., is in town visiting friends this week and was the guest of the C. W. B. M. of which she used to be a member.

Ray Herb, has returned to make his home in Earlington after several months in Howitt. He will take up his former place at the machine shop, and will move his family here in a few weeks.

The members of the C. W. B. M. had their annual meeting at the Christian Church Wednesday afternoon. The members had a very interesting and instructive programme for the afternoon and dainty refreshments were served, it being the end of the quarterly. Quite a quantity of good things to eat was in evidence much to the delight of the large attendance.

Charlie Trathen, of Nortonville, was in town Tuesday.

Jimnie Dulin, of Madisonville, was in town Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Minerva Davis, who has been in town visiting relatives has returned to her home at Anton.

Powerful Electric Locomotive. A Swiss railroad is building the most powerful single unit electric locomotives that have ever been designed up to the present time. The road will have ten of these engines, each of which will weigh 108 tons. At a speed of 50 miles per hour they are capable of developing 2,500 horse power, with a possible increase of speed to 70 miles an hour for an uninterrupted run of one and one-half hours.

Usual Thing. "I see," said the guinea pig, timidly, "that they say you are the cause of the increasing cost of eggs." "Yes," responded the hen, wearily, "they're following the same old rule—when anything goes wrong, always blame the woman."—Baltimore American.
